New Super Agency to Have Charge of Lines North of Red Deer.

COMPANY'S BUSINESS
HAS RAPID GROWTH

J. A. MacGregor, Popular Official at Brandon, to Probably Get Appointment.

P. C. Coleman, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific railway, who is in the city, announced this morning that the C.P.R. had decided to make Edmonton the headquarters of a new district, with a superintendent and the other headquarters staff stationed in the office on the second floor of the Jasper avenue depot building. Heretofore Edmonton, for general purposes, has been connected with the second district of the Alberta division, with headquarters at Calgary, the highest office in the district here being trainmaster. It was only a few months ago that the trainmaster's office was moved to the south side and, in fact, only a few months before that when the magnificent high level bridge and the north side station buildings and grounds were finished, and trains were running across the river.

To Include Many Lines.
The change will come about on the first of next month, and it is expected that the superintendent at Edmonton will have jurisdiction over all lines of the company in Alberta north of Red Deer, including those running east from Lacrosse and Wetaskiwin, and also the Alberta Central railway, a subsidiary company, which runs west from Red Deer to Rocky Mountain House and which will shortly be taken over from the construction department.

It is understood that the appointment of superintendent at Edmonton will go to J. A. MacGregor, recently superintendent at Brandon, Man., but MacGregor was born in Dufftown, Fife, Scotland, 41 years ago, and came to this country in 1882 and immediately entered the service of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal. After serving a number of years in the car service office at Montreal he came to Winnipeg in 1902 as car service agent, and in 1904 he was promoted to be assistant superintendent of car service, western lines, and in 1908 he was promoted to be superintendent at Brandon. In 1909 he was appointed superintendent of the car service at Winnipeg.

Good Site for Station.
Mr. Coleman arrived in the city this morning, accompanied by Mr. MacGregor, both of whom will probably reside in Calgary tonight. Mr. MacGregor was much impressed with the city as a whole, particularly with the location of the station, which he said was a fine site for a station, and that the location of the company's station and grounds here is a better site than could have been obtained.

The local business of the company has been developing very rapidly, and it is felt by the railway officers that the city is a fine site for a station, and that the location of the company's station and grounds here is a better site than could have been obtained.

Companies Make Deal
One of the lines which will likely be under the supervision of the Edmonton office, the Alberta Central branch from Red Deer to Rocky Mountain House, is now almost ready for train service. It will be seen on a map that a new line of the Canadian Pacific practically parallels it to Rocky Mountain House, but west of the point where the C. N. R. is built. A deal has been made by which the C. N. R. will lease the line over the Saskatoon and return to the C. P. R. It is given running over a section of the C. N. R. west of the river. It is stated that both roads will be running trains from the Yellowhead pass, and that the line will be under the supervision of the Edmonton office.

We have also just created a new superintendency in Alberta," said W. A. Brown, general superintendent of the company, "and the movement to be made by the C. P. R. These things show how traffic is growing in Alberta. We expect to have a number of other lines in operation soon, and would have before this if it had not been for the unexpected

CADET CAMP TOMORROW

Cadets will assemble at 8 a. m. at their respective schools Thursday morning. Preparations are well under way and the finishing of camp in the East End Park is in full swing.
Tents are already erected in the east end of the park. The cadets' pipes have been laid and latrines finished. The cadets will be fed in the machinery hall. Twenty women cooks have been engaged to feed the 600 hungry boys who will assemble tomorrow. Col. Cruickshank and his staff are expected to arrive this afternoon.
Cadets should not forget to bring an overcoat or raincoat. Blankets, sweater stockings, underwear and toilet articles are also essential. Snider rifles only will be brought to camp.
Rutherford cadets will assemble at the Ritchie school. High school cadets will assemble personally to Capt. C. K. Flint.

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT VIRTUALLY COMPLETED

Judgment in the Empress of Ireland-Storestad Case Expected Saturday.

Quebec, July 8.—The commission appointed by the dominion government to investigate the Empress of Ireland disaster met at the court house this morning for a final discussion of the findings. A few changes may yet be made, but the report is now virtually complete and ready for the typist.
Saturday morning has been fixed tentatively for the delivery of the judgment although on this point there is a little uncertainty.
The report has not yet reached a final decision on the point. Judge McDougall stated today, "but it is probable that it will be Saturday."

The report is long, but the findings themselves are understood to be brief. The question to be decided is whether the Empress of Ireland, government of the commission, the one that is awaited the most anxiously.
"Was the loss of the Empress of Ireland or the loss of life caused by the wrongful act or default of the master and first officer of that vessel, and the master, first, second and third officers, or the vessel or any of them?" The court is taking every precaution that its findings will not leak out before they are formally announced from the bench. It is not thought unlikely, however, that the commission's findings will follow the suggestion of the master and first officer of the vessel, and the master, first, second and third officers, or the vessel or any of them."

Simple Tunnel Inaugurated.
British Columbia, July 8.—The Simpson tunnel was inaugurated yesterday by a subterranean stream which burst through the retaining wall and flooded the tunnel to a depth of two feet. A train was derailed in the middle of the tunnel, but no lives were lost. The passengers were obliged to walk several miles to Iselle.

ENERGETICALLY DEVOTE TIME TO DRILLING WELLS

Some Companies Are Getting Down to Oil Strata in Quick Time.

PEOPLE'S EXCHANGE TO OPEN TOMORROW

Members Will Meet in Morning and First Session in Afternoon.

The energetic drilling and other development work being carried on in a large number of the companies continues to be the chief feature of the local oil situation, together with the renewed activity in filling in leases in the Sakumun field, as a result of the visit made there by Julius Fried, the California oil magnate, who is now at the King Edward hotel.

One company with extensive holdings in the district immediately west of the Sakumun well is the Edmonton, a new concern, capitalized conservatively and with prominent Edmonton and Calgary men. The contracts for three of the provincial legislature, behind it. No shares are yet offered by the company to the public.

The officials of the Heron-3200 company state that four wells will be drilled by the company at the same time. The contracts for three of these have been let and one driller has agreed to take stock in the company at par for his work. The Union Pacific, which is using a rotary drill, is now down over 500 feet, while the Dingman No. 2 is down over 1,000 and showing better indications as progress is made.

The People's exchange, the second to open in Edmonton, will be running in the Empire auditorium tomorrow afternoon. The members will hold a meeting tomorrow morning, at which the fees and other details will be decided upon, while in the afternoon the first trading session will be held.

G. W. Field, manager, stated today that it would be up to the members to say what would be the commissions charged for selling stocks, but he added that the People's exchange, which is a new concern, capitalized conservatively and with prominent Edmonton and Calgary men. The contracts for three of the provincial legislature, behind it. No shares are yet offered by the company to the public.

"This exchange will list all the Athabasca and northern stocks," stated W. H. Feeny, who will be in charge of the pit, "as well as the southern stocks. In Calgary the southern stocks are largely barred because of the jealousy of some of the southern people toward the northern fields."

None of the promoters of the exchange will have seats or booths in it themselves, stated Mr. Field, and they wish to do any trading in stocks of their own they will do it through the local bullionists of the pit.

More than 200 booths have already been rented out of about 40, and considerably over half a hundred more are expected to be given. The first 100 seats will sell at $50 each, the rest $60 at $75 and the last 10 at $100 each, it being planned to have 200 seats altogether.

M. J. Macdonald is president of the People's exchange, George Benham, manager of the Calgary branch and G. W. Field of the one to open here. W. H. Feeny, formerly of the Texas and Oklahoma fields, will have charge of the trading in the pit.

NEW YORK WOMAN RAPS DRESS CRITIC IN CLUB FEDERATION.

New York, July 8.—Mrs. Walter Lewisohn, of No. 187 Fifth avenue, is one of the many American women who object to the wholesale flaying given to the sex by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, of California, at the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago on the subject of dress.

"The American fashions today," said Mrs. Lewisohn, "are far from being the prototypes of the delicate women of the European capitals. Compare the women on Fifth avenue any fine afternoon with the women on the Rue de la Paix or any famed boulevard abroad, and the contrast is of the most telling nature."

"The American woman at home or abroad is distinguished for her individuality, her natural chic, which gives her cachet of style to even simple dressing."

"Women of standing in every social rank rarely indulge in overdressing, and it really is an unpleasant thought to spread broadcast that the standard for fashionable women is set by the demi-monde of Paris."

"The question of what a woman shall wear seems to me too personal a question to be settled by any general reform wave. No better demonstration of good taste, style and beauty in clothes could be given than a view of the interested women at the recent polo meet at Meadow Brook. And it is always true of the American woman in any gathering. She is distinctive, exquisite and refined. There are doubtless exceptions—maybe some."

BRANDS COMMENT ON SPEECHES AS UNWORTHY

Addresses in New York and Other Cities Mainly to Correct False Impression Regarding Operations of Public Utilities Here, Created as Result of Unfavorable Comment of Two City Papers—Edmonton and Province Highly Spoken of for That—May Make Important Statement About Finances This Afternoon.

"As a result of the unfavorable impression which has been created abroad by the antagonistic comment of at least two of the Edmonton papers with regard to the operation of some of our public utilities, many newspaper owners by traction companies and others opposed to municipal ownership have seized the opportunity thus presented by our own papers and have given as much undesirable publicity as possible to the principle of municipal ownership of public utilities, claiming that it has fallen down in Edmonton."

"The above statement was, perhaps, the most important Mayor McNamara made during an interview this morning in his office in the City building, after his return from the east, to where he accompanied the excursionists who left on a special G.T.P. train June 11.

"It was mainly to correct that impression," added his worship, "that I spoke in some of the eastern cities, especially New York, where all the papers had a good word to say for me, except a few typographical errors."

"As far as my having said that Edmonton people were now getting free water and other utilities," he said, when questioned regarding comment which has appeared in local papers regarding his eastern speeches, "it is so palpably absurd that it is almost not worth a denial. One thing I did say in New York was that I was at present investigating the water problem and might, by the end of the year, have an opportunity of offering the citizens the option of free water."

"I was candid about the deficits of some of our departments, but I pointed out that steps had been taken to correct their causes and that we expected from now on to be able to show a profit in all the public utilities."

"While in New York I met Dr. Cleveland, whom ex-President Taft appointed chief of the U. S. government bureau of economy and efficiency. He is now at the head of the New York bureau of municipal research. His organization recently completed a complete survey of the city of Toronto and pointed out some ways in which the government of that city might be improved, with the result that some reforms were brought about there. They specialize in making detailed surveys of city governments, with the object of pointing out weak spots so that conditions may be remedied."

"It is my purpose to suggest to the city council that a survey of Edmonton be made in this manner."

Trips Very Successful.
"Our trip to the east was a success in every way. We had a magnificent reception at every stopping place. At Chicago there were between 160 and 180 automobiles, I should judge, to meet us at the station. We toured the city and the evening we were given a most sumptuous banquet, at which they sang songs specially written about Edmonton, while speeches were given by Chicago people, Dr. Armstrong, George P. Smith, M.P.P., of Chicago, who spoke for the province, Vice President Deane of the association and myself. At Detroit we were taken through the city and given a fine Auto company and had lunch in the luncheon of the employees of that company. The governor of Minnesota happened to be there at the time and he accompanied us."

"The trip undoubtedly resulted in a great deal of valuable publicity for the city and district of Edmonton."

"When queried about the financial situation as a whole in the west, the mayor replied that it was difficult to see any great improvement. Although some lines seemed to be picking up rapidly the great if H. Claffin store failure occurred when he was in New York—the latest store failure in the territory."

"The states, however," stated the mayor, "with the exception of the crop for some years this season, and the second greatest in history. They will have 85,000,000 bushels of wheat. The Kansas crop is already harvested."

Edmonton Spoken of Highly.
"Wherever I went I found that Edmonton stood high in financial and commercial circles, also the province as a whole. The only thing which hurts it the undesirable publicity which has gone abroad, for which I blame the two city papers. Regarding the city's finances, my worship stated that he would not make a statement until the meeting of the finance committee this afternoon at four o'clock, when something of importance may be expected."

Deputy Mayor Egan had a conference with the mayor during the morning, when the annual civic holiday, the reception to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and other matters were discussed.

THE LAW REGARDING LIQUOR PERMITS TO CLUBS.

A good deal of misconception seems to exist in regard to clubs and club licenses. It does not appear to be generally understood, judging by some of the statements that have appeared in the press, that clubs are incorporated by special act of the Legislature and that the club charter is in existence until it is repealed by the Legislature. A club charter does not carry with it the permission to sell liquor to the members, but, on the conditions laid down in the Liquor License Ordinance being complied with, a club may apply for, and if all is in order, receive permission to keep liquor on the premises for the use of the members.

In Edmonton the license fees required to be paid by clubs for this privilege is $800 per year. Not all clubs comply with the provisions necessary to obtain a permit and some clubs do not desire to have liquor on the premises.

There are eight or ten social clubs operating in the province without the liquor permit. The club constitution and rules must be satisfactory to the Attorney General's department before a permit will be issued and the permit may be suspended or cancelled at any time by the department. The cancellation of the liquor permit does not in any way prevent the club carrying on as a social club without the privilege of supplying liquor.

Changes in a club's constitution must be approved by the Attorney General's department, but if everything is in order and the changes are approved by the Attorney General's department a club charter may, in the regular way provided by the constitution of the club, pass into the hands of persons other than those to whom it was originally granted.

THE VITAL PROBLEM STILL PRESSES

The session of Parliament ended with the same note which it began, and with the same unanswered demand coming from liberalism. On the first day of the session, as on the last, the government was confronted with the vital problem of the increase in the cost of living, the restriction of trade through tariff barriers, and widespread unemployment with no steps taken to remedy conditions which have steadily grown worse since the Borden government assumed power.

At the opening of the session, Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, regretting that no legislation was foreshadowed to relieve consumers and producers alike from being ground between the upper and nether mill-stones of steadily increasing charges by the combines and monopolies fostered by high tariff walls and the restriction of buying and selling in the best and most profitable market. The only answer given by the government was tariff revision upwards on 59 items, with a small reduction on one item only. For unemployment the government, in the face of falling revenues, provided still larger national expenditures, which must be made out of increased taxation.

On the last day of the session, the minister of trade and commerce in reply to queries from Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Dr. Pugsley said that the report of the commission on the high cost of living might be expected "some time." Meanwhile the people who are feeling more bitterly than ever the keenness of the struggle to make both ends meet, must wait in patience.

That commission appointed nine months ago is still leisurely pursuing the problem. During the past fortnight, it has been touring Western Canada and holding investigation behind closed doors in the various cities of the west. A few guarded statements have been given out to the public by members of the commission. They have announced that they have ascertained the strange fact that the cost of food is much higher than it was a few years ago, and that the increase in the cost of living has been due in a large measure to this. They have not had a word to say about the effect of the tariff on food prices, or on the growth of combines which reap the profits of tariff restrictions. That phase of the subject, however, was not what the commission was appointed to investigate. The government wants no profane hands laid upon the tariff and no arguments adduced that might give weight to the movement for tariff revision downwards, instead of upwards.

The Commission may possibly be ready to report when Parliament meets again. The farce will undoubtedly go on for some months yet. Meanwhile, here is one instance that the commission might investigate as getting near the heart of the real problem, and the effect of the tariff and the combines and monopolies on the cost of living. A Toronto gentleman decided a few weeks ago that he would like to get some of the Lancashire bacon that he used to get when he lived there as a boy. He got a friend in Liverpool to purchase a considerable quantity of bacon and hams and they were shipped to him at Toronto. The consignment was delivered to him at a total cost of twenty-three cents per pound. The cost in Lancashire was nine cents. On the day before the arrival of the consignment, a member of the gentleman's household paid thirty cents a pound for bacon cured in Toronto; and this bacon was at least of no better quality, and, if anything, of inferior quality. By buying in Lancashire, he had saved at least seven cents a pound. In both cases, the bacon was purchased from retailers, and it was not a case of eliminating the retailer's profit in either instance. The commission on the high cost of living might inquire whether the tariff and the packers' combine have anything to do with the case.

THE ATHABASCA TRAIL

My life is gliding downwards; it speeds swifter to the day
When it shoots the last dark canon to the Plains of Far Away.
But while its stream is running
Through the years that are to be,
The mighty voice of Canada will ever call to me.

I shall hear the roar of rivers where the rapids foam and tear,
I shall smell the virgin upland with its balsam-laden air,
And shall dream that I am riding down the winding woody vale,
With the packer and the packhorse on the Athabasca Trail.

I have passed the warden cities at the eastern water-gates,
Where the hero and the martyr laid the corner stone of state,
The habitation, Courser-des-bois, and hardy voyageur,
Where lives a breed more strong at need to venture or endure,
I have seen the gorge of Erie where the roaring waters run,
I have crossed the inland Ocean, lying golden in the sun,
But the last and best and sweetest is the ride by bill and dale,
With the packer and the packhorse on the Athabasca Trail.

I'll dream again of fields of grain that stretch from sky to sky,
And the little prairie hamlets, where the cars go roaring by,
Wooden hamlets as I saw them—noble cities still to be,
To greet the sturdy Canada with gems from sea to sea;
Mother of a mighty manhood, land of glamor and of hope,
From the eastward sea-swept islands to the sunny western slope,
Evermore my heart is with you, evermore till life shall fall,
I'll be out with pack and packhorse on the Athabasca Trail.

The Adventures of Kathryn

By Harold MacGrath.

The news plucked up Winnie's spirits considerably. Surely her father and Kit were brave and cunning enough to circumvent Umballah. What a frightful country! What a dreadful people! She was miserable over the tortures her father had suffered, but nevertheless she held him culpable for not telling both her and Kit all and not half a truth. A basket of gems! She and Kit did not wish to be rich, only free and happy, and now her own folly in coming would add but to the misery of her loved ones.

Ahmed had told her of the two ordeals, the black dungeon, the whipping; he had done so to convince her that she must be eternally on her guard, search carefully into any proposition laid before her, and play for time, time, for ever, minutes also would mean a minute nearer her ultimate freedom. She must promise to marry Umballah, but to set her own date.

Unlike Kathryn, who had found it to untangle the intricacies of the bastard Persian, Winnie had to depend wholly upon her own language. The offer of the zenna did not give her the respect and attention they had given to Kathryn. Kathryn was a novelty; Winnie was not. Besides, one of them watched Winnie constantly, because the bearded eunuch had attracted her fancy and because she hoped to enchant him.

By the note from Kathryn, it did not pass unnoticed, though Winnie believed that she was without espionage. Kathryn, her father, her brother, and Pundita met at the colonel's bungalow and with Ahmed's help they elaborated the plan to rescue Winnie. Alone the little sister would not be able to find her way out of the clutches of her captors. It was Kathryn's idea to have Winnie pretend she needed air and sunshine and a walk in the garden after the doctor's visit. The rescue would be attempted from the walls.

Jugernaut or Jagannath, in Hinduism (meaning Lord of the World) was an idol so hideously done in wood that the Prince of Hell would have taken it to be the personification of a damned soul could he have glimpsed it in the temple of Allah. The god's face was black, his lips and mouth horribly and significantly red; his eyes were polished emeralds; his arms were of gilt; his body like that of a toad. His temporal reign in Allah was somewhere near four hundred years, and no doubt his emerald eyes had seen a crimson trail behind his car many hundred times.

He was married frequently. Some poor, bright, beautiful, and beautiful woman would pledge herself and would be considered with awe till she died. But in case time came she found herself under the car! Nothing but the incense of crushed flowers now followed the waka. His grin, however, was the same as of old. Wood, palm, gilt, and emerald! Well, we enlightened Europeans sometimes worship these very things, though we indignantly deny it.

Outside the temple stood the car, fantastically carved, dull with rubbed gold leaf. You could see the sockets where the wheels had once stood glittering in the sunlight. Xerxes, no doubt, found his way there upon the wheels of the car. The wheels, at least, were in front and two on each side, were solid, broad, and heavy, capable of smothering out a courageous warrior. The superstructure was an ornate shrine, which contained the idol on its pereginations to the river.

Here is More Proof of Quick Cure for All Folks That are Weak, Ailing, Nervous.

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea," writes Mrs. C. A. Dolan, of Bloomington. "The heat had made me listless and the distaste for food reduced me to a condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. I was unable to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault, but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble, I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The difference I first noticed was that while they cleaned the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver and in a very brief time not only all source of nausea disappeared, but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. These pills began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I have Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health."

Get this best of all medicines today and refer to it as the "Liver and Blood Purifier." It cures the "Liver and Blood Pills" of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers. 25c per box or five for $1.00. Sent by mail. The Cathartine Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

IN THE PARLOR CAR Railway and Shipping News.

Major Parnes of Moose Jaw has received from the Grand Trunk Pacific railway a check for $2000, being the amount asked by the city for the land required in the exhibition grounds there for a G.T.P. station. This much-waxed question as to where the G.T.P. passenger station and freight terminals would be located in Moose Jaw is now finally settled.

At a meeting of the railway commissioners on June 24 last, Chief Commissioner Drayton made an order that the G.T.P. must serve notice of its proposition for the city of Moose Jaw within two weeks for the ground necessary for a station on the old exhibition grounds.

The G.T.P. intimated that they would require about six acres of land, and W. H. Willoughby, for the city, offered the land at $5000 per acre, at which sum it was accepted. The figure was decided on as a definite offer, and the lapse of two weeks has been anxiously watched by the city officials.

The time for the G.T.P. to make the offer and expropriate did not expire until Wednesday, and it was not expected that the G.T.P. would be heard from until that date. The city had decided on the right-of-way over the lands in question, for which the city had given an agreement. The matter was taken before the railway commission last year and this year ruled that the G.T.P. must file plans for station and terminals within six months, but this it failed to do. The city again appealed to the commission, asking it to enforce the order. The tendering of the $5000 is the result of that appeal. If the G.T.P. had not complied with the order it would have been compelled to have filed the plans at once for station and terminals elsewhere.

The fiscal year ended June 30 for a large number of the American railways. It is also the closing of the year for the C.P.R. A new year, with all its possibilities, opened with Dominion day—the anniversary of Confederation. The record showed that the year had gained and lost; but the new fiscal year has many hopes set on it. It is the mark of the year of prosperity. That is the general conviction among railway people. Of course this notion is a bubble, and it is in the west. This is confidently expected. The C.P.R. is in constant receipt of news from every part of the west—reports which give minute details of the prevalent conditions over wide areas. The officials speak with confidence in a great crop, but, in any case, all the conditions, everywhere, are showing improvement. Confidence will be restored by the fall or early spring. The wheat and grain crop generally will, it is believed, put some $200,000,000 in the pockets of the farmers. Debts will be paid. Money will be easy. Merchants will buy. Longshoring industries will pick up. The towns and cities which have been making time will be aroused to new efforts; and the conditions in the west will be reflected in the east. Western C.P.R. officials speak most glowingly of the immediate prospects. Even if there was nothing to signalize a crop in the way of bulk or quality, the restoration of general confidence all over the world is a great credit to the result felt in the west, where the tone is buoyant, and where the promise made by important financial coaches in London that the west could get all the money it needed for proper purposes, has had a heartening effect upon all classes of people.

A good idea has been adopted by the Pennsylvania road—namely, the calling out by a member of the crew of the number of seats available for passengers in the several coaches on the train. Many passengers finding in particular cars that there are no seats trouble to look no further and remain themselves to stand all the way; while, at the same time, there may be vacant seats in the car behind in front. It is to obviate this inconvenience that the public that this new rule has been put in practice. It ought to work out to the comfort of the public. It would not be a bad thing if the Canadian railway systems with their important financial coaches in London that the west could get all the money it needed for proper purposes, has had a heartening effect upon all classes of people.

ALLENDALE RATEPAYERS ORGANIZE IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE LAST NIGHT

At a meeting held Tuesday night in the Allendale Baptist church, at which a large number of ratepayers of the district were present, it was decided to form an Improvement League, to be affiliated with the Edmonton Property Owners' association. The following officers and committee were elected: President, Mr. J. W. Stanfield; vice-president, Mr. W. Daniels; secretary, Mr. George S. Corrie; committee, Messrs. Parker, Dean, Hawkins, Mac, Donald, Cross, Lally, McGregor, P. Ritchard, Koster and Messdames McGregor and J. Stanfield.

Much indignation was expressed by residents of both Allendale and Rose-dale districts at the condition of roads, which in many instances are impassable, and many residents flooded by the recent heavy rains. This district, although the most part has been in the city limits for some years, has no improvements of any kind, light or sidewalk, and absolutely no fire protection, although water mains are laid to the tannery in the southern part, not a hydrant has been provided for.

KING AND QUEEN MADE OBJECT OF ATTENTION BY THE SUFFRAGETTES

Dunbar, Scotland, July 8.—Millant suffragettes made desperate efforts today to attract the attention of King George and Queen Mary, who are making a tour through Scotland. At Dalloch Bridge, at the foot of Loch Lomond, the women cut down all the decorations and at Dalnair, 10 miles from Glasgow, they managed to stretch out a huge banner bearing the words: "Your Majesty, stop the forcible feeding and torturing of women." across the route as the procession arrived. At the same time one of the women, armed with a megaphone, howled denunciation of forcible feeding.

Neither the king nor the queen paid the slightest attention but the crowd who had gathered to see their majesties

It is proposed that Brazil shall begin negotiations with Argentina and Chile for an offensive and defensive alliance. The treaty would guarantee the territorial integrity of the countries concerned and their political independence, and would also deal with the question of settling down to the reduction and thereafter limiting armies and navies. Paul Wells' Recital.

An echo from the Paul Wells recital by "One Who Knows": Paul Wells has technique, temperament, brains and brawn. Slight in physique, his physiognomy expressing refinement rather than force, he in no way prepares one for a marvellous performance. His recital was borrowed from Rubenstein or Van Houten, yet he possesses this and every time the firm's grand "grand" tried to his capacity. The program was wisely selected under the circumstances, the latter being a July night. The question is: What did he teach us? The class of people who attend a recital in July are people who want to learn, not merely to be entertained. One student present gained a new insight in Chautauque playing. The recital by Debussy, Schumann, Chopin, the chameleon in the Schumann Allegretto, from each the tone extracted was firm, perceptive, and compelling. His fluency is remarkable, he has stolen De Rachmanoff's delicacy and clarity, Mark Lamborg's fire and energy, Eugene d'Albert has lent him his flexible wrist for thirds and octaves. He is singularly free from mannerisms, takes few liberties with his score, and is a voice that speaks the truth, comprehensively, sincerely and unaffectedly.

Mrs. and Mrs. Firth are planning to leave Edmonton in the early fall for the east. Mr. Firth is well known in musical circles will be very much missed. Mr. and Mrs. Firth will probably reside in Detroit in future.

ROYAL YEAST

SAVE THE BABIES!

With a view of interesting the public, and of affording all infants the opportunity of gaining information of a practical nature as to the best methods of preparing food for young infants who have to be artificially fed, a pamphlet dealing with such matters will shortly be available, and will be given free to all who call for it at the Health Department, Civic Block.

In connection with the nurse of the Victorian Order who is now an employee of the health department, the following order letter is addressed to the physicians of the city: "A nurse of the Victorian Order has been attached to the health department, whose function will be to act as a visiting nurse to all homes where young babies are being reared, and where the parents either for financial reasons or from a lack of knowledge of proper methods of feeding, are liable to need assistance and advice."

If true we will have your co-operation and support in this effort to lessen infant mortality, and to this end it is desirable that you should notify the health department of the addresses of all new born babies coming under your care, where you have reason to believe the home surroundings and housing conditions are such as to jeopardize the life of the infant. The health department will endeavor to time to time and give such advice and counsel as may prevent the development of improper or careless feeding. T. H. Whitelaw, Medical Officer of Health.

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE TO ENTERTAIN COUNTRY WOMEN.

That most active of Edmonton's women's organizations, the Consumers' League, is again plotting (with business intent) and now it is an "at home" they are planning during fair week, and to which they have sent out invitations to the farmers' wives. The object is for the women both of the city and of the country for the discussion of affairs on a practical basis. From the management of the exhibit, the Consumers' League has secured that portion of the arena upstairs, which was placed at the disposal of the Y.W.C.A. and little later on show this spring. Here the old story will be repeated—important business decision will be made over the festive board. The members of the league are enthusiastic and hope for good things.

Jean Blewitt Recital a Great Success

The recital given by Mrs. Jean Blewitt of Toronto in First Presbyterian church last night was one of the best literary treats ever given in Edmonton. Mrs. Blewitt has won for herself a high place in Canadian literary circles and admirers were given a chance to hear this gifted woman render a number of her delightful poems in recital. The enthusiastic applause and the great attention given by the audience was a sufficient reward to the appreciation. Probably the favorites were "The Heart of a Child," "Synthesis," "For He Was Scotch, and So Was She," "The Irish Legend," and "The Prodigal." Mrs. Blewitt was assisted by Miss Edith Wall, Mr. Syd O'Keefe and Mr. J. A. Stewart, all very pleasing in their numbers, while Miss Beatrice very ably accompanied.

Love may still be blind, but it seems as though a good many have found a way of lifting the haze so long as we see through some of the subtleties employed, at least.

Theatres and Picture Shows

WELL KNOWN STOCK PLAYERS MAKE REAL HIT WITH PANTAGES

Edmonton theatre goes packed yesterday afternoon, and when the curtain rose on William Yule, Irene Lorton and Edward Hearty, in Mr. Yule's new sketch, applause broke out to which the time threatened to rock the walls.

It was an enthusiastic audience and it has been some time since an actor or actress has received such a welcome on a local stage. Mr. Yule was seen in the part of an old whisky-loving husband and Irene Lorton played the part of his wife. Hearty assumed the part of a royal northern mounted police officer. The sketch was written for Mr. Yule by T. J. Johns of Calgary and is original and clever.

The story is about a man and wife living in a cabin in a dry section of the province near the border of the United States. The husband loves whisky, and in order to evade the law, keeps it hidden in a cask. The wife, who is really alive in the next room, the officer then decides to spend the night, as it starts to rain, and the husband passes his wife off as his daughter. Thus for the night, the officer, on seeing a woman—the first in two years—starts making vigorous love to her before the husband, finally, the husband can stand it no longer and tells the officer they are man and wife. The officer then breaks out and hugs her he decides it is better not to let it out and everything ends all right. The sketch is very original and the parts were played excellently considering that this was the first time the actors had been on the stage.

Although Mr. Yule was the main attraction yesterday the crowd did not forget to cheer and applaud the other two. The four Solis brothers carried off premier honors on their Marimba. James Brockman got away to a better start and received a hearty applause on his character songs.

Harry Antin and Hetty Yule tickled the crowd so much that when they finished the audience demanded more, but they refused to oblige. A despite the demand, Wilfred Hutchinson and company lived up to their promise and the audience in continued laughter.

WEALTHY YOUNG MAN IN LYCEUM PLAY IS NOT ORDINARY KIND

One of the happiest comedy offerings of the summer season at the Lyceum theatre is "A Gilded Fool," which is the current attraction at the popular playhouse. In this play Edward Hearty, who is playing the part of the wealthy young man, is featured as Chaucery Short, a young man who, though wealthy, is a simpleton in his nature, does some surprising things in a surprising manner.

Short is left a great deal of money by his father who is a very old man. The young man is in love with Margaret Hearty, the daughter of the playhouse. The broken-down firm of which Miss Hearty's father is one of the partners, fails, so Margaret attempts to sell Short a half interest in the insolvent concern. Fortunately, Short knows the firm is insolvent but defies the odds and buys a half interest. In the company in spite of its precarious financial condition. Every time Short buys the stock market, he buys two shares for every one purchased by Short, and eventually the stock starts to rise. Higher and higher it goes until Short discovers he has doubled his fortune, and the firm of which he has a half interest is again on the financial feet. Partner is outwitted and Short wins the girl of his choice.

There are numerous amusing attractions and an abundance of bright dialogue that will be remembered long after the last curtain has descended. For first class summer entertainment, "A Gilded Fool" is a winner from the start.

TWO STRONG SERIALS AND BRIGHT COMEDY FILL BIJOU PROGRAM

Featured at the Bijou theatre for Wednesday and Thursday nights is the newest story in the series that is attracting even more popularity in the city. The story is "The Adventures of a Diplomatic Free Lance," from the Blue Book, with James Cruze, in the lead, and John H. Barnes, as Arthur Brown. It is a two reels and there is a thrill and a heart throbbing in every scene.

Of course every patron of the Bijou is familiar with "Our Mutual Girl" by now, and the adventures of this charming little girl are followed each week with ever-increasing interest. Apropos of the popularity of "Our Mutual Girl," the following is a letter received by Manager Hazza, of the Bijou, from a person who has followed every installment since the first film company inaugurated this series: "It has been my good fortune to follow 'Our Mutual Girl' since the very start, and I want you to know how much I enjoy this wonderful series of pictures. It was such a clever idea to combine current events, well known people, and fine places of every description with the fun of the Bijou which shows 'Our Mutual Girl' every Wednesday and Thursday."

POWERFUL EMPRESS DRAMA SHOWS HOW MAN-MADE LAWS FAIL

A film in four parts that is said to be an unusually appealing drama, showing the power of the law, and featuring Miss Betty Nansen, the distinguished emotional actress, in a role worthy of Aqueduct. The Empress drama for Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

After an introductory part, which tells of the Empress's early life and of living, the plot weaves by gradual stages up to the supreme test imposed upon her. The Empress has become a hopeless cripple for a fall from her horse. The sufferer pleads for the means with which to end his agony and the wife, over-whelmed by conflicting emotions, hands him this medium and steals her for the ordeal which some man-made laws place her on trial for her life, and the denouement is one of great power.

One of the most remarkable features of all this rare variety of film is the big horse race that is one of the most realistic scenes ever presented on the screen. There is a wealth of detail in this picture and the picture is so arranged no pains to present everything as one would see it in real life.

While "Acquitted" is the star attraction, the Empress drama, too, has a program, there are several other worth-while pictures, among them a comedy and a relief from the tragedy, and the powerful and wholesome four-part headliner, Mr. Paul, whose organ grinders enhance the charm of every Empress entertainment, will offer a new and varied list of musical selections.

ELEPHANTS STRONG FOR GERMAN SAYS ZORA, THE TRAINER

Elephants come from India and from Africa. And seeing this is the case, why wonder that it is that their language is German?

It is a matter of training. And it is the high knowledge of the trainer that Zora, the "bravest woman in the world," with the Solis-Floto circus and Buffalo Bill himself, which is to appear at the Lyceum theatre on Wednesday, Thursday, July 22 and 23, was able to make such a success of psychodrama training. But let Zora tell the story herself.

"When I began I naturally tried to talk to the elephants in English. I gave them their commands, but they did not seem to understand. I wondered for most of the elephants had learned the language of their master, my husband passed and smiled.

"Use German," he suggested. I tried German, and the elephants obeyed. I couldn't understand the reason for a while, and then it all came to me. The elephants are German."

Practically every elephant which comes to this country is brought from the Tierpark of Hagenbeck, in Germany. Many of them have been here for years. Their captors and the rest of the show are German. The result is that the only language the elephants hear is German and they must be trained in that language."

SUFFRAGETTES TRY TO DESTROY COTTAGE IN WHICH BURNS BORN

Glasgow, Scotland, July 8.—An attempt to destroy the cottage at Ayr, where Robert Burns, the poet, was born, January 23, 1759, was made here before daylight today by two members of a militant suffragette "arson band." The two women were captured by a night watchman as they were placing large bombs against the doors and windows of the poet's birth place. The man captured one of the militants, the other escaped.

The women wore stockings over their shoes in order to deaden the noise and hide their footprints. The arrested woman gave her name as Janet Arthur, who created a scene when arraigned at the police court, shouting and screaming and shouting quotations from Burns' poems. She was remanded.

Charles King, July 8.—Suffragettes burned the railway station at Broadhead today.

FASHIONS AND FANCIES

FASHION NOTES

Messaline princess slips are in demand once more to wear under lingerie gowns.

Gold brocaded chiffon makes one of the prettiest bodices to the summer evening gown.

A pure lemon yellow batiste frock was trimmed with heavy and hand-brocaded linen.

At present the safest sort of handbag to choose is a leather one, flat and thin and shallow.

More and more femininity is displayed in all apparel for women, and it affects even the most masculine of fashions.

A new fashioned collar is one of the latest ways of persuading a coat of last year to assume the effect of this.

A delightful imported hat was simply covered with embroidered crepe; its only ornament being a flower which precisely matched the pattern. Adorable little bodices of figured lawn are used for morning and afternoon. These bodices are for wear under the waist and are in fact, corset covers but they are known by the prettier name of "bodice" to which their dainty pattern entitles them.

The loveliest patterns of flowered lawn batistes and thin handkerchiefs are used for the waists. They are fastened in the front and have just enough fullness to be becoming. They are extended just to the waist, line and are finished with a tiny heading. The same heading is used to edge the fronts of the waist and the top. There is no other trimming on the waist except flat shoulder straps of fine lace insertion.

An incident reported at the Quebec Morgue after the loss of the Empress of Ireland.

The sun shone down on Quebec town, its fortresses grim and gray. On the sombre shore where in tragic gloom Those poor drowned bodies lay.

Nothing of beauty to meet the eye, Or soothe the heart's deep pain. Of the mourners, who sought their well beloved And too often, sought in vain!

Hark! In the distance the rumbling sound Of wheels on the country road, And a drift of sweetness over the town From the habitants' flowery road.

Slowly they trudged through that portals gloom, And their heads were bared and bent Above arms filled with lilac bloom. With its fragrant homely scent.

And a breath of God seemed to enter The very air that they breathed.

With the perfume breath of spring And the love of God to brood above All the sorrow and suffering.

And wherever this tragic tale is told In the years that are yet to be, The heart will swell and the eyes grow dim At the habitant's sympathy.

FREDDIE WELSH OUTPOINTS RITCHIE IN TWENTY ROUND CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE

Welsh Had Better of Ten Rounds, Five Were Even, and Ritchie Had Five—Few Hard Blows Landed by Either Man—It Took Welsh 17 Rounds to Draw Blood From American—Neither Man Was Knocked Down—Nobility and Ministers Were Present, Also Ladies—Ritchie Not Satisfied With Decision, Breaks Down and Cries.

London, July 8.—Fred Welsh, the lightweight champion of England, last night outboxed Willie Ritchie, the American champion, and on the referee's decision, won the lightweight championship of the world.

The fight took place at Olympia and the 8,000 spectators witnessed a fast and clever bout, in which rapid footwork and a good deal of infighting were pronounced. The British victory was cheered to the echo, although there was some dissatisfaction among the American spectators at the decision, because neither man was knocked at the finish. Although Welsh scored the greater number of blows, those of the American appeared to be the more telling.

It was a fine exhibition of boxing throughout. Neither man went to the floor and the struggle during the last six rounds was of a hurricane character. Welsh was the quicker man and tapped Ritchie repeatedly on the face, finally drawing blood. The American tried continually for a knockout, but either he was too short or Welsh got inside or under the swing.

Ritchie in Tears.
Ritchie broke down when the decision was given against him, and was in tears when seen in his dressing room. He refused to talk then, but later, at the hotel where he is stopping, he said:

"I do not intend to make a better, but I do think the worst I should have got was a draw. Welsh was holding all the time and I was doing the fighting. Therefore, I think the decision was not fair to me."

Ritchie hurt his right hand in the bout, but otherwise was not much damaged, except for a few bruises on the face.

All the old-timers are agreed that the contest was one of the fastest and finest exhibitions of boxing witnessed in London in recent years. Some of them expressed the opinion that Ritchie would have come out on top in a finish fight. The Welshman's footwork and dodging were far quicker than the American's, and he preferred more of the time to get to close quarters, where Ritchie could not use his powerful swings. There was altogether too much holding throughout to please the English audience.

Tried For Knockout.
During the last four rounds Ritchie forced the fighting and tried hard for a knockout, while Welsh was plainly playing to win a decision on points.

It was a fine exhibition of tap, tap, clutch, over and over again throughout the 20 rounds. Neither man won the semblance of a knockdown; in fact, they did not even so much as flumble. Welsh, as expected, was quicker and he tapped the coast performer repeatedly on the face. His hitting ability can be measured by the fact that it took him 17 rounds to draw blood from Ritchie's face, although he hit him many times flush in the mouth, nose and eyes.

Ritchie Was Nervous.
Time and again the visitor tried for a knockout punch. He was excited and although there were times when Welsh left openings, the American was too nervous to take advantage of them. It took him almost 10 rounds before he got his bearings and then he was too far gone mentally to figure out a weak spot in his rival's defense. From the twelfth to the fifteenth rounds, it seemed as though the champion was improving and would win, but he "blew again" and went back to his swinging tactics.

There were really only three blows in the entire fight that could be called effective. Once in the third round Ritchie caught Welsh coming in with a straight right to the stomach, again in the opening of the thirteenth Willie landed the same right straight to Welsh's nose, opening an old cut on that member. In the seventeenth he caught Welsh square on the jaw as the latter straightened out of a crouch, but not even these wallows did more than give Welsh's supporters an instant of apprehension, but none of them remained in force with the many others Ritchie started that did not land.

Fastest Bout Seen.
Old timers, both Americans and English, were unanimous in their opinion that the contest was the fastest and best exhibition of boxing ever seen in a championship fight. There was action in every second of the sixty minutes of milling, and while Ritchie did most of the forcing, Welsh was not found wanting. He stepped in and out of punches with uncanny judgment, shook his head with Ritchie's lightning-like left, and never took a chance on a knock-out. He never swung and kept his right hand in a position, where Ritchie was forced to swing to get him.

The Welshman's footwork and dodging was far quicker than the American's, and he preferred more of the time to get to close quarters, where Ritchie could not use his powerful swings. There was altogether too much holding throughout to please the English audience.

Freddie Fought Close In.
Welsh preferred at all times to get in close quarters, where the long swings of his opponent would be less dangerous, and where he could work on Ritchie's kidneys. This style of boxing was far from pleasing to the English spectators, who thought the boxers time and again for not standing up and measuring wallops.

During the latter part of the battle Welsh showed that he was playing only for a decision on points. He took fewer chances in the last four rounds and clinched whenever the opportunity presented itself. Ritchie, on the other hand, made an effort to score a knockout. His seconds must have warned him that he was out of the running so far as a decision was concerned, and this made him over-anxious, for Welsh made him look foolish.

Few Women Present.
The much-expected appearance of battalions of women spectators flocked to a mere hundred or so, and these were mostly theatrical people. The few women that did occupy ring-side seats wore evening dresses and many of them left the arena before the contest was over.

The success of the affair is likely to kindle great interest in the coming contest between Guslight Smith and Georges Carpentier, French champion. Smith was given a warm reception when introduced last night.

The office of "Father" Boudier, in clerical garb, as announcer, was a novelty. Among the American contin-gent were the Harvard and Union boat club crews.

Many of the nobility sat close to the ring-side, and there was a goodly sprinkling of clergymen.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round 1—Welsh was the loss and Ritchie the winner originally. Ritchie got in a few blows in the clinch which immediately followed. Ritchie responded with a straight to the jaw. In-fighting followed with Welsh getting the better of the argument. When they squared off, however, Ritchie delivered several body blows.

Round 2—Ritchie got a hard right to Welsh. He was cautious by the referee for holding in the clinches. Welsh got in some vicious jabs in the in-fighting.

Round 3—Ritchie opened with a left swing, but in a clinch Welsh landed on the body in close quarters. Welsh got in a couple of jabs, Ritchie retaliating with a left to the jaw. Welsh followed with a right to the same spot. The round ended with Welsh landing lightly on the face. Ritchie was again cautioned for holding.

Round 4—Welsh fought for the body. Then in a clinch gave Ritchie two or three left hooks on the jaw followed by a right swing on the same side. Ritchie appeared the fresher of the two, smiling when the going sound.

Round 5—Ritchie got one to the face, Welsh replying with a left to the jaw. Ritchie then sent a straight right to the jaw and a heavy body blow. Ritchie forced the fighting, but was repeatedly cautioned for holding.

Round 6—Ritchie's left eye seemed to be slightly swollen. Welsh's left eye was also damaged. Ritchie played for the bad eye. Welsh dodged a right hand swing aimed at the bad eye. Welsh's foot work was much the quickest, but his blows seemed to have less steam than the American's.

Round 7—Half of the round had passed before Ritchie began forcing the fighting. He landed two smart blows on the face. Welsh responded, but the American covered up well and the rounded ended in his favor.

Round 8—The work of both fighters thus far had been very constant and sharp. Most of the fighting had been body fighting, ending in clinches. Welsh appeared to be beginning to exhaust his strength in the clinches. He then put on more steam and gave the American good body blows and seemed the fresher at the end than at the beginning of the round.

Round 9—Welsh forced the fighting, opening with a left to the face, an operation which he quickly repeated. Ritchie blows continually falling short, while Welsh, settling a furious pace, got several blows to the body and got the best of the in-fighting. Welsh's round.

Round 10—Welsh forced the fighting, opening with a left to the face, an operation which he quickly repeated. Ritchie blows continually falling short, while Welsh, settling a furious pace, got several blows to the body and got the best of the in-fighting. Welsh's round.

Round 11—Welsh who came up smartly landed a sharp left on the face.

QUAKERS AGAIN SHUT-OUT, THIS TIME BY MEDICINE HAT 4 TO 0

Buckles Held Them to Two Hits and They Were Robbed of Hits by Spectacular Catches by Hatters—Quakers' Percentage Has Shrunk During Past Two Weeks.

Saskatoon, July 8.—The Saskatoon Quakers looked like a second division team here yesterday when they were shut out by the Hatters and held to two scratches by Buckles. They were unable to hit safe ball at the same time it must be said they had none of the breaks, several spectacular smart rally in which the honors were even.

Round 12—Welsh scored a left hook to Ritchie's neck. Ritchie repeatedly tried to get back but Welsh was always too quick for them. The Welshman scored three of four punches in this round but they seemed to make no impression on the American, who showed great stamina.

Round 13—Ritchie snatched up and landed two straight rights on the face and a sharp uppercut. The American forced the fighting all through the round. Welsh doing up considerable, it was a good round, all in favor of Ritchie.

Round 14—The American got in a short but left on the body. Later he repeated with the right. The fighting was fast and fierce to the end of the round. This time the preceding was Ritchie's round.

Round 15—The first half of the round was a boxing match, with both men working hard in the clinches. Welsh trying to wear his opponent down. There were a couple of rallies but no damage was done. The round was even.

Round 16—There was more in-fighting. Each receiving a good tap on the face. The Welshman ducked a terrific right hander. The fight continued a fine exhibition of boxing by Welsh who played entirely for the face while the American for a body knock-out.

Round 17—The men again went into a clinch at the sound of the gong. Upon breaking Ritchie landed a hard left hand swing on the face and followed it with a series of sharp body blows. Ritchie pushed the fighting and appeared to be strong. Welsh covered well and was too quick for his opponent.

Round 18—Ritchie bled from the lip. This was a very fast round in which strength and quickness continued to be displayed but the Welshman got a little the best of it.

Round 19—Welsh was getting all the applause being the favorite with the crowd, but Ritchie was doing the fighting. Welsh landed a right on the face and got one in return. There was a

NOTES OF THE FIGHT

Before the three preliminary time-killing bouts had been finished, the majority of the prominent London sporting men had gathered about the ring, as well as 200 or 250 American, some of them well known.

The newspapers had predicted a large attendance of women, but there was only a small sprinkling of bright dress, in the cheaper seats around the sides of the arena, which filled just before time was called.

In the opening rounds Welsh scored more points than Ritchie. In the fifth round, however, Ritchie forced the fighting and in this and the next two rounds there were some sharp exchanges and heavy infighting in which Ritchie generally got the upper hand.

Several times the American was cautioned for holding in the clinches. In the eighth round the Welshman recovered his liveliness and in this and the ninth round forced the fighting and had the best of the encounter.

In the thirteenth round Ritchie had all his own way, landing some heavy blows and forcing the fighting all through, while Welsh appeared to be weakening.

There were not more than 300 women all told, most of them in evening dress, in the section occupied by members of the royal family and prominent society people during the late show.

Welsh entered the ring at 5:58 and still singing of the Welsh hymn, "God of our Fathers," by hundreds of his countrymen.

Willie Ritchie appeared at 10:03, and hearty applause.

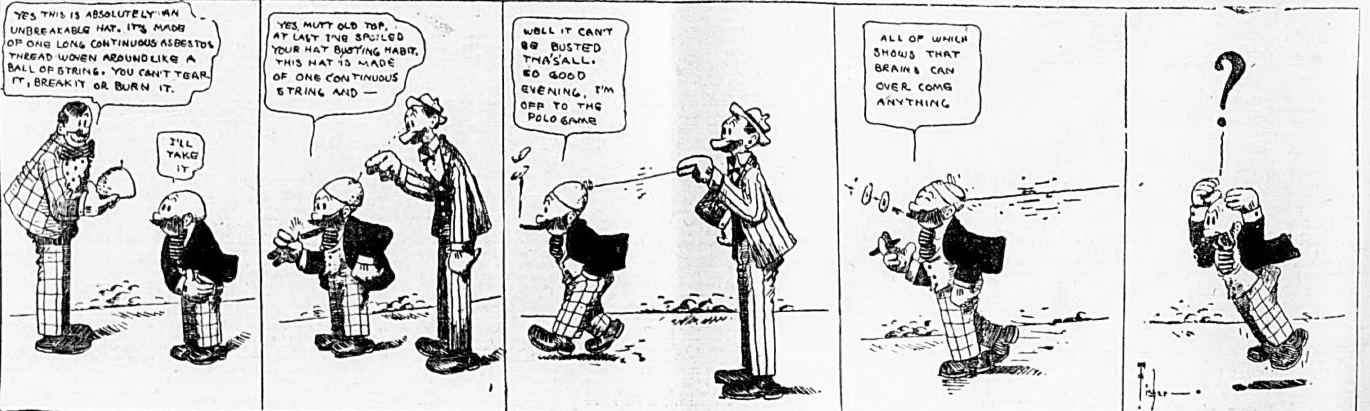

When the Rev. John Harvey Boudier, who is popularly known as "Father" Boudier, climbed through the ropes in his clerical garb he got a good round of applause. He then announced in a stentorian voice the names of the contestants in the first of the preliminary bouts.

The final round was the swiftest of the whole fight and Welsh had the better of it.

Of the twenty rounds ten were undoubtedly Welsh's, five went to Ritchie and the other five were about even.
